

Setting Event Goals

Writing down your goals is a great way to ensure the success of your event. Consider what is most important for your target audience before getting into the details of planning. This document can help you determine what to focus on in terms of budgets, themes, and even marketing tactics.

What is the purpose?

What are the financial goals?

What is the "wow" factor?

How will you determine success?
